

AMERICAN ARMS IN DISGRACE.

The bravery of the officers who command the Federal army cannot be doubted. It is no part of our purpose to reflect on their gallantry, which has been displayed on too many battlefields to be questioned at this late day.

We have no reference now to the political brigadiers, many of whom during the late war smelt the battle from afar, and after a short and inglorious service in the field retired to private life, or received some civil promotion to protect their bodies from the bullets of the so-called rebels.

We have no reference to Gen. Henry Wilson, Gen. John A. Logan, Gen. N. P. Banks, Stonewall Jackson, Commissary, Gen. B. F. Butler et omne genus, who added no lustre to the military glory of the country by any special display of genius or valor.

But when we speak of Federal officers we refer to those who have made arms their profession—who have been trained in military schools and who have entered the service of their country actuated by a love of martial glory and achievement.

Such officers, we dare say, are as brave and fearless as those that command the armies of any other nation of the globe.

Gen. Canby lost his life in a reckless interview. He was warned time and again of the treachery of the Modocs, and was urged and entreated, in the most importunate manner, not to attend the meeting with Jack and the Peace Commissioners. But he declined to listen to the appeals to his reason and judgment, and sacrificed his life in the discharge of what he conceived to be his duty as an officer.

It was a grievous error on his part—and grievously did he atone for it. He fell a victim to the wily strategy of his barbarous Indian foe, but he deserves as well of his countrymen as if he had fallen at the head of his column, leading his men in open fight on the field of battle. Gen. Canby won his spurs by gallant conduct during the Mexican war, and in the conflict between the States was never accused of being wanting in courage.

A few days after Canby's death, a reconnoitering party under Captain Thomas was attacked by the Modocs, and a number of the Federal troops were slaughtered. In this engagement Capt. Thomas and Lieutenants Howe, Wright and Cranston were killed, and Lieutenant Harris dangerously wounded. In addition to these officers, there were about forty privates killed and wounded. The whole number of Modocs engaged is put down at twenty-one. Capt. Thomas' command became demoralized and stampeded, but the officers displayed conspicuous gallantry in a vain endeavor to rally the men.

The Modocs had the advantage of position, and exhibited superior tact and military skill. Another skirmish was reported a few days ago, in which the Modocs succeeded in capturing a supply of quartermaster stores and wounding three soldiers—sustaining no loss themselves.

The last fight, reported in our yesterday's dispatches, resulted in a signal victory for the Indians—the casualties on the Federal side being ten soldiers and two Warm Spring Indians killed and wounded. One Modoc was killed.

The Modocs, who have thus far bid defiance to the United States army and gained such signal triumphs in every engagement which has thus far taken place, are estimated to number between thirty and forty fighting men, and it is not likely that the lava bed dispatches have under-estimated their numerical strength.

These statements furnish a sad commentary upon the inefficiency which has characterized the campaign of extermination proclaimed immediately after General Canby's death. That event has been followed by a series of blunders which have brought disgrace upon the American arms, and exalted a handful of savages into renowned heroes.

The world will look with contempt upon the failure of our officers to capture forty ignorant savages, who have put to frequent discomfort and rout the detachments sent out to overtake and punish them.

THE FLIGHT OF THE MODOCOS—THE TROOPS IN HOT PURSUIT.

Since the recent fight between the Modocs and Captain Hasbrouck's command, the Indians have been hotly pursued by the troops, and are now about twenty-five miles from the scene of the late conflict.

It will require all of Jack's generalship to save his force from capture—now that a progressive and offensive campaign has been inaugurated.

Gen. Davis is terribly in earnest and is determined to give the enemy no rest. But unless he is more diligent and skillful than his subordinate officers have been, Jack and his band will yet elude him.

Loafers in Omaha are called "variegated vagrants."

A certain cure for scalp disease—Modoc lavender.

THE COAL MINE HORROR—SIXTY MEN IN A LIVING TOMB.

Our dispatches to-day report a second explosion at the Drummond colliery, near Halifax, Nova Scotia, which occurred yesterday morning at 2 o'clock, and by which twenty-one persons, who had volunteered to assist in relieving the men immured in the pit, were instantly killed.

The latest intelligence represents the number of workmen who are cut off from all hope of rescue at sixty.

Large crowds have collected in the vicinity of the coal mine, but every effort to rescue the unfortunate men has proved fruitless.

SPIRIT OF THE STATE PRESS.

The Piedmont Press has secured the services of W. F. Avery, Esq., lately Associate Editor of the Asheville Express, who in a well-written salutatory enters upon his new field of labor. With John B. Hussey as Editor, and Mr. Avery as Associate, the Press will add still farther to its usefulness and circulation. In announcing the change, the Editor says:

"The steadily increasing patronage of the Press, which is deeply gratifying to us, is a strong incentive to increase its usefulness, and we hope to make it indispensable in every household throughout this section of the State. Assisted hereafter by our worthy Associate, we shall continue to make it emphatically a worthy representative of the great interests of Western North Carolina. In the future, as in the past, we shall honestly endeavor to serve and promote the public interests, and shall be swayed from the path of right, by neither personal nor party consideration."

The Wilmington Star refers to the President's determination to crush out local liberty in Louisiana. It has several short paragraphs after the style of Courier-Journalists.

The Wilmington Journal discusses "Briarcren" again.

The Journal is glad to learn that Col. Wheeler is collecting materials for a new and enlarged edition of his History of North Carolina.

The Spirit of the South thinks it bad taste to abuse Gen. Canby now. Gen. Canby, as the South supposes, was not required by his superior officers to execute all the orders and decrees promulgated by him while commander of this Military District. Canby used his own discretion, or rather indiscretion, in matters pertaining to the internal affairs of the Carolinas, but we will not criticize his course now. Requiescat in pace.

The Wilmington Post discusses county matters with the Journal.

The Northern Times takes issue with Dr. Wilder, who wrote a communication for the Wilson Institute Quarterly, combatting the doctrine that phrenology is a science.

The Charlotte Observer has a leader on the Louisiana War, in which the Editor plainly shows his sympathy for the tax-resisters. We concur in this feeling.

There is no doubt of the advance in surgery. A nice way the surgeons of old times had of practicing. Here is the diagnosis in a celebrated case: "When Henry II of France was mortally wounded by a splinter from a spear, in titling with Montgomerie, which entered his visor and pierced his eye, the surgeons, for the purpose of discovering the probable injury done the King, cut off the head of four criminals and thrust splinters into their eyes, as nearly at the same inclination as the fatal one had entered that of the King." Rule, probably effective. Here is another instance: "When the Duke of Burgundy, Felix de Utre went in search of the Omegus from Venezuela, he was wounded by a spear, just beneath the right arm. A Spaniard who was ignorant of surgery undertook to cure him, and de Utre's coat-of-mail was placed upon an old Indian who was mounted on a horse; the amateur surgeon then drove a spear into the Indian's body, through the hole in the armor, and his body having been opened—the spear being still kept in the wound—it was discovered that the heart was uninjured. Thus it was assumed that de Utre's wound was not mortal, and being treated as if the wound was an ordinary one, he recovered."

BREVITY.—A western exchange calls attention to the notable and desirable change in American journalism, by the substitution of the paragraph for the "article" on the editorial page. Commenting on the change it says: "A few years ago nothing less than a column in length was considered worthy of the pen of an editor, and the reader had to face about three such installments every morning, or else burst in ignorance of what the paper had to say for itself. Now all the leading journals of the country devote more than half of their editorial space to paragraphing. It is much more difficult to write a good paragraph than an average article—just as it is much more difficult to preach to preach an average sermon. The late James Gordon Bennett had a good appreciation of the matter when, in response to an inquiry as to what he paid for editorial matter, said, 'I pay at the rate of fifty dollars for a quarter of a column, twenty-five dollars for a half a column, and ten dollars for a whole column.'"

TREATMENT OF CONVICTS.—Convicts in the Michigan State Prison are hereafter to be treated with distinguished consideration. The Legislature has voted to free them from the humiliation of wearing striped garments, and has also given them permission to correspond with their relatives and intimate friends. The State also devotes funds toward their education, and gives each one, when discharged, $10 worth of clothing and $10 in cash, with such other money as he may have earned by over work.

The wife of a Louisville lawyer, made a bustle of some important legal documents, and the court had to adjourn until she could go home and return with them in proper shape.

UNIQUE FUNERAL PROCESSION.—A Louisville society of colored people recently conducted the funeral of one of their members in a somewhat unique and certainly economical manner. The remains were carried to the corner of a street, accompanied by about fifty colored women clothed in white; here they embarked on board a number of street cars, and with the hearse leading the procession, the funeral cortege moved solemnly along the principal thoroughfare to the occasional music of the tinkling bells of the funeral steeds.

GUANO! GUANO! GUANO!

BUY THE BEST SOLUBLE SEA ISLAND GUANO!

State Fair Premium at Wilmington for the Largest Amount of Cotton to an Acre. GOLDSBORO, Wayne County, N. C., November 23rd, 1872.

JOHN H. POWELL, Esq.: DEAR SIR—The Soluble Sea Island Guano purchased of you this season was used by the side of three others, and has given me more satisfaction than any of the others. The Soluble Sea Island Guano was the one used upon the acre of land upon which my son raised the cotton which he took his State premium for the greatest amount of cotton to an acre; and I am informed by the Chairman of the Committee that had he entered for the largest amount of cotton to the acre, premiums open to all ages, he would also have taken that premium, beating all 150 lbs. I am better pleased with it than any other Guano I have ever used on cotton, and I shall use it in preference to others next season for my cotton crop.

ALSO EIGHT PREMIUMS AT WAYNE COUNTY FAIR.

The Amount of Seed Cotton made on an Acre of Upland by Mr. Granger was Three Thousand Six Hundred and Thirty-three Pounds.

EDGECOMBE COUNTY, N. C., December 12th, 1872.

Messrs. R. W. L. RAISON & Co., Baltimore: I bought of Messrs. Branch, Herbert & Co., last Spring, one ton of your Soluble Sea Island Guano for myself and three tons for other parties, and I find them all well pleased with it, and say it is the best Guano, and paid them better than any they ever used. The ton I used myself was put in cotton by the side of two other guanos, and I am willing to say that I should buy the Soluble Sea Island Guano in preference to any that I have used since the war. Very respectfully, J. R. GREEN.

W. H. AVERA, Esq.: SELMA, N. C., November 12th, 1872.

DEAR SIR—The ten bags Soluble Sea Island Guano more than met my expectations. I consider it equal to Peruvian for cotton. It paid me over 100 per cent. I more than doubled my crop. My neighbors who bought it are highly pleased, and will use it in preference to any other when it can be had. Hope you will keep a supply the coming Spring. Truly yours, R. HARE.

E. W. FULLER, Esq.: LOUISBURG, N. C., December 4th, 1872.

DEAR SIR—In reply to your inquiry as to how I liked the Sea Island Guano I got of you, I wish to say that I applied it, 20 pounds to the acre, alongside of Peruvian, Pacific Guano and Gilham's Tobacco Fertilizer in equal quantities; it stands the drought better than either of the above fertilizers. It matured the cotton better, and will use it in preference to any other when it can be had. I think it is a splendid fertilizer and I expect to use it next season. Yours, respectfully, MARCELLUS MIMMS.

WILSON, N. C., January 11th, 1873.

Messrs. HARRISS & BLACKWELL: GENTS—I used this season, on my cotton crops about 15 tons of your Soluble Sea Island Guano, testing it by the side of Guanope and Vegetator, and up to the time of the heavy washing rains last of June, I was equally pleased with its action as of the Guanope and better pleased than with the Vegetator.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Tetter, Salt Rheum and all Skin diseases cured by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

THE PEOPLE'S STAMP OF VALUE.—The Government Indorsement, which legalizes the sale of PLANTATION BITTERS, is not the only stamp affixed to that famous Vegetable Tonic. It bears, in addition to that official endorsement, the valuable endorsement of public approbation. This medicinal voucher of its rare properties as a Tonic, Corrective and Alterative, is of much earlier date than the Government Indorsement, for millions of sick persons had pronounced it the Grand Specific of restoring health before Congress thought of taxing proprietary medicines. It is unnecessary to repeat in detail the properties of this wonderful Vegetable Invigorant. The best reference that can be offered to those who desire the full particulars of its virtues, is the General Public. Ask those who have tried it as a remedy for dyspepsia, constipation, biliousness, indolent fevers, nervous debility, rheumatism, sea sickness, low spirits or loss of vital power, what Plantation Bitters has done for them, and be governed by the response they make to your inquiries.

The following statement, from one of the oldest and most respectable merchants of the city of Petersburg, speaks for itself and needs no comment:

I have for many years used "BLANK WITH ANTI-DYSPEPTIC PILLS" as a family medicine, and have never known them the most safe, efficient and pleasant medicine with which I am acquainted. They promptly relieve Dyspepsia and all usual attendants, Costiveness, Heartburn, Headache, Loss of Appetite, Cholic, &c., &c. I take pleasure in recommending them to the public. They ward off disease and preserve health. I always keep a full supply on hand and would not willingly be without them. Prepared solely by the proprietor, E. T. BECKWITH, successor to Dr. Beckwith, Petersburg, Va. and sold at all the leading drug stores, at the price of 25 cents per box, by all druggists, and by Joseph Carr, Wholesale Agent, Jacksonville, Fla.

HELP FOR THE HOPELESS.—You are not detected, miserable, and nothing does you any good, you say. Don't despair. There is a man in Raleigh, Va., who has cured Bitters? No! Then why don't you try? We have your complaint be dyspepsia, biliousness, nervous weakness, indolent fevers, or any other trouble. Vinegar Bitters will revive and renovate your shattered system, a general rain refreshes life withered flowers.

DECISION ABOUT DEBTS.—The Supreme Court of Tennessee has rendered a decision which announces a new rule in regard to acknowledgment of debts. Heretofore it has been accepted as law, that where a payment had been made upon a note, such payment took the instrument out of the statute of limitations. The payment is to be considered as an acknowledgment pro tanto, and not for the entire debt.

Rev. N. H. Wilson is confined to his bed with sickness. When last heard from he was reported very low.

Three children were baptized in the Methodist church last Sabbath evening.

Major James H. Lacy exhibited the Balkcock Fire Extinguisher Saturday night. He set empty kerosene barrels on fire, which blazed as high as a two o'clock fire, and extinguished the flames in a few seconds. The operation of the Extinguisher was a success.

The recent heavy rains have played havoc with things in general and railroads. The Kernersville train was delayed Friday last by the sliding down of a cut over the track the other side of Friendship. And two washes in the embankment of the Richmond & Danville Railroad, between Richmond and Danville, on Sunday night, delayed the train due here at two o'clock Monday morning. Other slight damages occasioned by the heavy floods along the railroad are reported.

Monday I saw a basket of charming and luscious strawberries, about the size of a partridge egg. If anything will make your mouth water, they will. At least mine did—but I didn't get any.

It is amusing to hear the farmers curse when they get into that mud hole on South Elm street. They say it is worse than their country roads, considering that this one is paved with rock, and their roads are not.

A POTATO STORY.

One of our Guilford farmers says he was in his back porch some time ago, gazing at the vegetables growing in his garden, and inhaling the breeze. He chanced to glance at a certain spot of ground where he had potatoes planted, and noticed the dirt was slowly rising up, as when a mole is eagerly digging its way under ground. He said to himself that he would go and catch that mole, and stop it from burrowing in his garden. He then grabbed both hands around it and raised it out of the ground. Instead of getting a mole he had pulled up a large potato. It was going so fast that he saw the ground mounding up and tumbling over. The potato was growing as fast as a mole travels when it is in no particular hurry.

MEMORIAL DAY.

Friday night a large concourse of citizens assembled in the Methodist church to hear the address delivered before the Eclectic Literary Club by Mr. John A. Barringer. His subject was Literature. For a beginner and a first effort, he did remarkably well, and will some day become an adept. His manner of delivery and gestures were spoken of in high terms by those who heard him. After the address the members of the club, and invited friends, repaired to the residence of a member, and amused themselves dancing and feasting. As on all such occasions, they had a gala time. Saturday morning the club and many volunteers met at the Odd Fellow's Hall, where they joined in the procession and marched, double-file to the cemetery. Rev. J. Henry Smith opened the exercises with prayer. It was an excellent prayer. Mr. John N. Staples addressed the audience in a few brief remarks stating the object of the occasion, and introduced Col. John A. Gilmer. The Colonel is too well known for comments from me, but, nevertheless, his memorial address was one befitting the occasion. It contained many touching pathos, and was delivered by the speaker in unison with his own feelings. He gave a brief statement of the war, and instances of bravery on the part of the noble dead. By request of the president of the club Maj. Jas. H. Lacy, of Fredericksburg, Va., was introduced. His short and appropriate speech had its effect on the assembly. He spoke principally upon Caroline's noble sons who sleep under Virginia soil, saying that the ladies of his State had gathered and placed in one cemetery about six thousand from different States, and whose graves, he was glad to say, were tenderly cared for by Virginia's daughters. The benediction was pronounced by Rev. Dr. Smith, after which those who had brought floral tributes entered the cemetery and beautifully decorated the graves of the noble soldiers who had fought and died for their country—a tribute they justly deserve. At the conclusion of these exercises, friends who had dear ones buried in the Methodist and Presbyterian cemeteries, also paid tribute to the honored dead in each.

"TO A STAR."

[BY THE LATE CHIEF JUSTICE CHASE.]

"Mournful thy beam, pale star!
Shining afar with solitary light, Though hosts around thee are Decking the bosom of the blue midnight.
"I would not be as thou!
Cut off from all communion with thy kin,
Though round me might blaze now
The light and glory in which thou art surround.
"For thou art all alone!
Companionless in thine afar corner,
While silently rolls on In paths of living light each radiant sphere.
"Thy glows forth have been,
In thy bright beauty, since the elder time.
When undimmed by sin,
Earth, too, was lovely in her being's prime.
"And still thou art the same!
As beautiful and fair as then thou wert;
As if thy virgin flame Had power Time's wasting influence to avert.
"Shine on awhile, thou star!
Yet shall thy brightness fade in endless night;
Roll on thy diamond car,
Full soon thy fiery track will not be bright.
"There shall a star arise—
A star far lovelier than night's brightest gem.
To shine in purer skies—
The fadeless, glorious Star of Bethlehem."

[From the St. Louis Democrat.]

The Death of Shack-Nasty Jack.

Again we are called upon to perform the painful duty of announcing the death of one who, if not altogether lovely, was chief among a fraction of a thousand and spirits who are not yet made perfect.
We refer to "Shack-Nasty Jack," the genial, whole-souled, or perhaps (considering his mixed parentage) we should say half-soled, copper-colored gentleman, who recently died peacefully, and in pieces, in his little lava bed. Jack did not wrap that little drapey he had about him and lie down to pleasant dreams, and his demise was hastened by a seven-inch shell that entered and exploded in his diaphragm, ruining a valuable apparatus that had never been disturbed by banquets of roast dog, sals, horse, washed down by copious draughts of fiery untamed benzine and vodka-gun whisky. As we recall the virtues of the deceased, our pen unconsciously drifts into the Philadelphia Ledger form of mourning, and we are led to exclaim

Dearest Shack, thou hast left us,
No more horses thou wilt ride,
But 'twas Gilem that bereft us,
He can all our sorrows heal.
First we thought it was Schomchin,
Then we heard was Scar-faced Charles,
But the latest news, Shack-Nasty,
Says 'tis you have quit earth's snarls.
Gone but not forgotten.

Friends of the family invited to attend-covered carriages for all who wear gloves.
Born of poor but honorable parents,
"Jack" manifested at an early age those traits that in after years made him famous, and would in time have sent him to Congress if his soul had not been shelled out of his ephemeral shell by a cast-iron namesake. He served his tribe as tax-collector, president of a baseball club, and was about organizing a Young Men's Horse Plagiarizing Association, when he felt a sensation of goneness at the pit of his stomach, and was gone. Possessing many of the virtues that marked the Credit Mobilier operators, Shack-nasty was also as generous as the increased salary voters, who only drew their back salary to pay off the public debt, and the news of his sudden death will cause a thrill of anguish in many bosoms—anguish that he was not permitted to die slower, and by inches.

If you have a mattress, feathers are not required. You can have a most LUXURIOUS BED
with either, without the other! Don't take our word for it, but take a SPRING BED ON TRIAL, for a few days at our risk, to be taken away
if it does not suit.
Samples may be seen at Julius Lewis &
Co's, T. H. Briggs & Sons, W. H. Jones &
Co's, W. H. Morris & Co's Furniture Store, are constantly in use, and where Dr. Blackwell will take pleasure in giving any information about the Bed. Agents wanted in
